CAT JUMPS FROM MAYNARD'S BAG

Representative Tells How Money Can Be Made for Expo.

TO COIN MILLION SILVER PIECES

Profit Will Represent Difference Between Bullion and Face Value of Coins—Bill Also Provides $1,340,000 for Jamestown

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., January 20.—The bill introduced by Representative Maynard, making an appropriation to the Jamestown Exposition Company, provides for a total expenditure of $1,340,000 as the cost of governmental participation in the celebration. The money is to be expended in the housing of the government exhibit and in the construction of a wharf, and approaches with suitable arches and statuary. A sum is also to be spent on a building for foreign officers who come to participate in the celebration and in a rendezvous building for the enlisted men from European countries.

An interesting and distinctive feature of the bill is the provision for the coinage of one million silver coins of twice the weight and value of the present silver dollar, on which are to be suitable inscriptions and device commemorative of the event which it is proposed to celebrate. These are to be selected by the President, the Secretary of the Treasury and the president of the Exposition Company.

It is provided that the secretary shall deliver the coins to the treasurer of the Exposition Company in lots of not less than fifty thousand, for which the treasurer shall pay into the treasury a sum equal to the bullion value of the coins. It is expected that the profits of the company, represented by the difference between the bullion and the face value of the coins, will be large. Mr. Maynard is the author of the scheme, and he is confident it will net a large revenue to the company, without cost to the government other than that of coinage.

Another section of the bill provides that the government shall have struck medals to be awarded exhibitors, and that duplicates shall be allowed successful exhibitors on payment of actual cost of having the medal struck. The details of the bill were gone over most carefully by President Tucker and Messrs. C. Brooks Johnston, J. Taylor Ellyson, O. D. Bacheller, composing the board of governors, and Representative Maynard before it was introduced. It is believed there is a good chance of securing the passage of the bill or one on the same general lines.

EXPRESS COMPANY GRAFT IS KILLED

Keifer Wanted to Increase the Amount for Transportation of Silver Coin.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, January 20.—Abuses in the expenditure of appropriations was the text of the discussion in the House to-day during the consideration of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill. But little progress was made in the consideration of the bill, which will be the continuing topic for Monday.

The portrait of ex-Attorney-General Knox, for which the Department of Justice has asked $2,615, was again the topic of comment. The most animated discussion of the day took place on an amendment by Mr. Keifer, of Ohio, to increase the amount for the transportation of silver coin.

Mr. Smith (Iowa) declared the practice of transporting silver in small lots, the sub-treasuries was "graft, pure and simple, in the interest of express companies."

Mr. Hill (Connecticut) said it was "unadulterated graft." Every Secretary of the Treasury from Carlisle down, he said, had disapproved of the practice. He said he could give a specific instance where an express company was paid by the government $18,000 for transporting its own money from San Francisco to New York.

Mr. Williams (Mississippi) stated that if the movement of silver was stopped or restricted it would work hardship in agricultural districts. The amendment was lost.

Mr. Humphreys (Mississippi) discussed a measure he has pending to make the government records of Federal liquor taxpayers and license-holders available as evidence.

ALFARO'S TROOPS CAPTURE QUITO

Capital of Ecuador is Now Occupied by the Insurgents.

NEW MINISTRY LASTS ONE HOUR

Two Hundred Persons Killed or Wounded During Formation of New Government—Moreno Takes Reins and People Take Them From Him.

(By Associated Press.)
GUAYAQUIL, ECUADOR, January 19.—General Alfaro occupied Quito, the capital, at 3 P. M. Thursday. A junta of notable persons met in the government palace here at 4 P. M. to-day and formed a new government. Vice President Baquerizo Moreno assumed the executive power, establishing the capital here and appointing a new ministry.

Rioting followed. The people during the afternoon attacked the prisons, liberated the political prisoners, and afterwards captured the police barracks, where the rioters obtained possession of a number of rifles and some cannon. Rifle shots later were heard in all parts of the city, and the rioters became so bold that they attacked a battalion of artillery. Many persons were killed or wounded on both sides during the fighting.

The new ministry, however, only lasted one hour. The people rejected the administration of Baquerizo Moreno and proclaimed as president General Eloy Alfaro, the former President of Ecuador and leader of the revolution, and in his absence Dr. Emilio Arcevalo assumed the civil and military authority.

A great panic prevailed here during the evening and in the midst of the disorder, General Leonidas Plaza, Minister of Ecuador to the United States, who arrived here January 18th, and assumed chief command of the army in its operations against the rebels, escaped from the city and embarked on board the Chiffon steamship which leaves here to-morrow for Panama.

Later in the evening order was restored.

TIDE OF LIBERALISM HIGHER THAN EXPECTED

(By Associated Press.)
LONDON, January 20.—Within the last eight days the political complexion of the United Kingdom has been completely changed by the tide of Liberalism, which even now is higher than the most sanguine radical dared to hope for or predict. The new Parliament will be overwhelmingly Liberal. Up to this time the total number of members elected is 429, of whom 247 are Liberals, 114 Unionists, 48 Laborites, 78 Nationalists and 1 Socialist. This leaves 190 seats still vacant.

The Liberals thus far have gained no less than 177 seats, counting labor gains as Liberal or government gains; and if the same proportion is kept up for the remaining 190 seats the Liberals will have 467 votes in the next Parliament, to which may be added those of 42 Laborites, 1 Socialist and 83 Nationalists, which would give Prime Minister Campbell-Bannerman 533 votes, against 137 for the Conservatives.

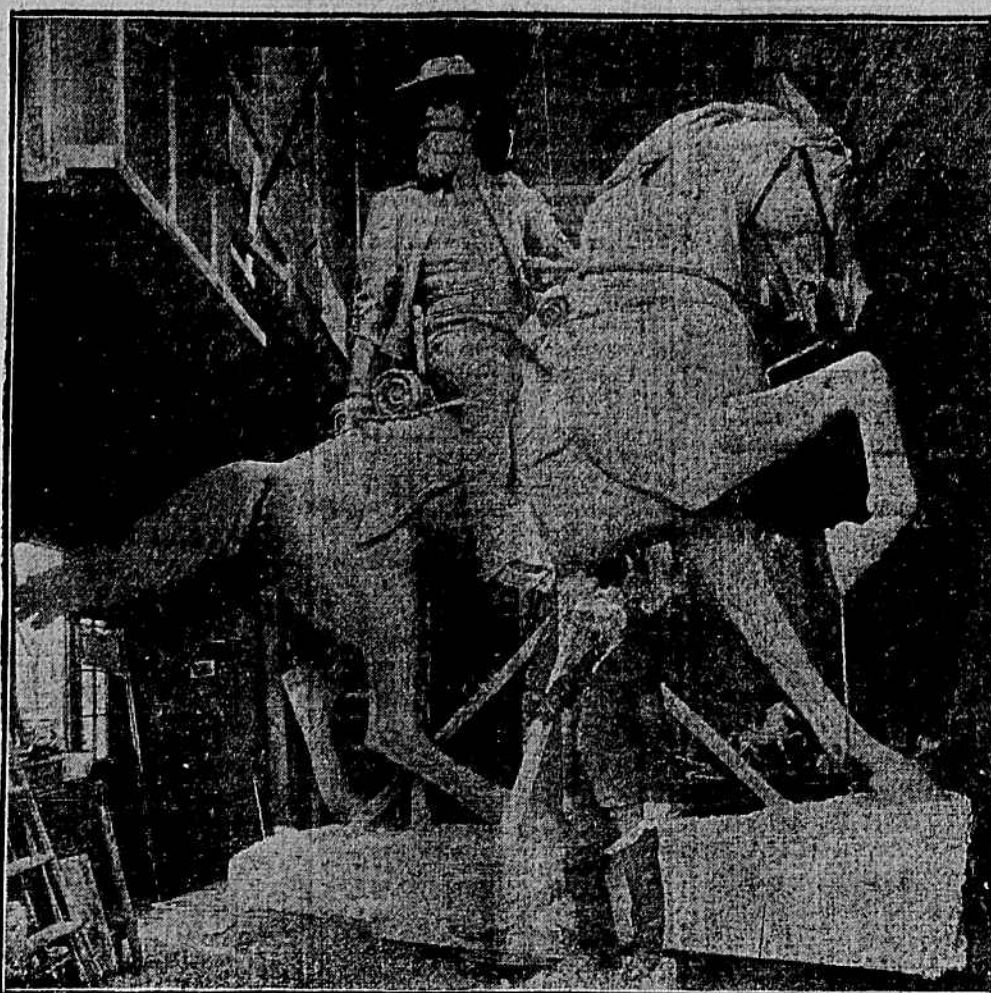

PRESIDENT'S APPOINTEE CHARGED WITH HAZING

(By Associated Press.)
ANNAPOLIS, MD., January 20.—The naval court-martial concluded the trial of the case against Midshipman Charles S. James, of Grinnell, La., to-day. Charges of hazing have been lodged against Midshipman Richard H. Mann, a member of the first class, and who is an appointee of President Roosevelt. He is an appointee under arrest on the charge of "Frenching" from the Academy grounds. His trial will immediately follow that of Midshipman Claude B. Mayo, of Columbus, Miss. There are three specifications under the charge of hazing in Mann's case.

AUTHOR OF "AN ENEMY TO THE KING" IS DEAD

(By Associated Press.)
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Word was received here to-day of the death in Bournemouth, England, of Robert Nelson Stephens, author of "An Enemy to the King," which was produced by E. H. Sothern. He was forty years old, and leaves a widow.

TUCKER'S INTERESTING CHAT
Member of the Royal Family May Plant a Tree on the Exposition Grounds.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., January 20.—Hon. Harry St. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition Company, reached Washington this morning, after a tour of Europe, visiting crowned heads in the interest of the exposition. Mr. Tucker has led a strenuous life since he left New York for the other side early in November. He has been traveling constantly, pretty nearly, and when not on a railway train or a steamship, has been seeing rulers and cabinet ministers in the interest of the great enterprise which proposes to celebrate in a fitting manner the founding of the first English settlement in the Western world.

"I have returned satisfied that the celebration will be of far greater magnitude than we have ever dreamed," said Mr. Tucker. "I found the greatest interest manifested in Europe, and every government will be represented; that is, I am satisfied that all the countries which I visited will participate by sending men-of-war and military detachments to Hampton Roads."

Mr. Tucker's work was much simplified by the cordial manner in which the home governments had been notified by their representatives here of his intention to go to the foreign capitals in the interest of the exposition. This was especially true of his visit to London. Ambassador Durand had sent full information to London concerning the mission on which Mr. Tucker was going, and he found Lord Lansdowne, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, in a position to discuss matters very intelligently. England will, perhaps, participate in the celebration with a larger number of vessels and soldiers present than will be sent by any other country, though Germany indicated an intention of sending a good fleet and a detachment of soldiers.

King's Cordial Greeting.
"How did I conduct myself when I saw King Edward?" repeated Mr. Tucker. "Just as I conduct myself in the presence of any other gentleman. I shook

SEE THE MODEL IN PROVIDENCE

Inspected the Stuart Statue of Sculptor Fred Moynihan.

PLEASED WITH THE DESIGN
Plaster Model Will Be Completed in Ten Days, Then to Be Cast in Bronze.

A royal reception in Rhode Island greeted the ten Confederate veterans who went to inspect the magnificent clay model of the General J. E. B. Stuart statue at the works of the Gorham Manufacturing Company at Providence, R. I. Received by the Governor of Rhode Island and by the Mayor of Providence, banquets at the most aristocratic club in the State and made the object of most flattering articles of the press of the city, the committee of the Veterans' Association may well feel that the historic hospitality of the South is reciprocated in Northern lands. The party arrived by the Colonial Express promptly at 6 o'clock in Providence.

Members of the Party.
The members were Colonel John W. Gordon, Major Andrew R. Venable, Captain M. J. Dimmock, Judge Theodore S. Garnett, James B. Werth, James Vass, Joseph R. Gordon, P. H. Mayo, Joseph W. Thomas and Frank T. Sutton.

They were waited upon by a committee from the Gorham Manufacturing Company. Breakfast was had at headquarters in the Narragansett Hotel, the finest of its kind in the city. Shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday morning the party, escorted by Vice-President G. H. Robinson, of the Gorham Company, went in automobiles to the works at Elmwood, a suburb of Providence, where the model of Stuart is under way.

The reception at the mammoth plant of the celebrated silversmiths and bronze-workers was most cordial. There were waiting to receive the committee, beside Mr. Robinson, Mr. Fred C. Lawton, superintendent; E. Frank Aldrich and J. P. C. Lawton, who constituted a committee of welcome. Present at the works when the party arrived was Captain George N. Bliss, of the First Rhode Island Cavalry, who led the famous charge in the ranks of the brave Stuart Horse Artillery. After being photographed by a representative of the press, the inspection of the model received the earnest attention of all.

Work Practically Complete.
The model rested on its working founda-

WOULD VALIDATE "ANNEXATION"

Mr. Byrd Offers Bill for Relief of Certain Towns.

EXTENDS LIMIT OF LEE STATUE BILL

Member of House Seeks to Make the $70,000 Already Appropriated Available if It is Desired—Many Bills Are Offered.

With the Senate away and the slimy attended House of Delegates disposed to hurry through its work with the greatest dispatch consistent with dignity and the proper conduct of public business, there was little of wide-spread interest in the halls of the General Assembly of Virginia yesterday.

Among the bills offered in the House were two or three of general interest, attention being particularly called to a measure proposed by the Hon. Richard Evelyn Byrd, designed to remove from the cities and towns which have taken advantage of the annexation act of 1904 to extend their limits, the danger of an upheaval as a result of the proceedings now pending in the courts of the State. The bill of the Winchester member validates the steps taken under this act, whatever may be the decision of the courts as to the constitutionality of the law, and insures the status of the cities in question presenting what, should the act be declared unconstitutional, might otherwise be a serious and even disastrous blow to the municipalities. Numerous cities and towns have taken advantage of the act to enlarge their boundaries, and many have held elections, issued bonds and made improvements on the basis of the new corporate limits. To declare all of this null and void would cause incalculable confusion in the State.

Lee Statue Matter.
Apart from this measure and one or two others, including one to extend the time limit of the appropriation of $10,000 for a statue of Robert E. Lee to be placed in the State House at Washington, there was scarcely a flicker of interest in the session. Many members were absent. The committee did practically no work. On the Senate side there were scarcely a dozen members in the city, the majority having taken advantage of the adjournment until Monday to go to their homes in many different sections of the State.

While there was thus little of importance in things done there was still a good deal worthy of note in the things doing. Indications of one or two important matters now brewing came to the surface yesterday. One of these, which will be set forth at length in a bill shortly to be proposed will have perhaps the most important influence over the primary school system of the State that has been felt in many years. In brief this bill will propose to make possible the investment of the territory of over a million dollars in the erection of public school buildings in Virginia, instead of exclusively in Virginia, Federal and railroad bonds as is now the case.

The plan is thorough and far-reaching. It was introduced yesterday also. It coming legislation for pure food, Senator Machin, of Alexandria, announced that he would within a few days re-introduce the bill for a legalized primary that caused the spectacular fight at the last session. The legislation that will line up for a battle over the new crab law are loading up with crab lore dug out of great tomes in the State Library.

Both houses will meet to-morrow at noon and the week will be a very busy one. The short session will make expedition necessary and there will be few if any delays. This heavy work will begin with the new week.

Session of House.
After an absence of two days Speaker Cardwell was back at the capitol and in the chair again when the session of the House of Delegates began at noon. Many seats were vacant. The attendance of visitors was as large as usual. The speaker invited several ladies standing in the gallery to seats below, declaring that the regulation excluding the public from the floor was not operative until proper conveniences had been arranged in the gallery.

A number of bills were advanced on the calendar or passed by. When the Byrd bill, increasing the salaries of the judges of the Circuit Court, was called on its second reading, Delegate Read took occasion to warn the house of the danger of expending the public funds so badly elsewhere in the raising of salaries. The Cato bill, permitting the creation of estates by devise or deed of gift, to which the estates of courtesy or dower shall not attach, was reported adversely from the Committee for Courts and Justice. The report of the joint-committee on local and private legislation

BURTON CASE IS STILL GOING ON Defense Introduces No Witnesses for Edification of Jury.

INSTRUCTIONS IN ONE OVERRULED

Crowd in Court-Room Sorely Disappointed at Tameless of Yesterday's Proceedings. Occupies Third Floor Apartments in City Jail.

The end of the Burton case, which has been attracting so much attention for the past few days, is not yet. It will hold the Hastings Court boards for one more day, or the part of one more day, anyhow.

None of the new developments promised from some quarters for yesterday, and none of the sensations looked for materialized, and much to the disappointment of a packed court-room of people, the court proceedings were exceedingly tame, as compared with those of Thursday.

The Commonwealth concluded its testimony in less than an hour; the defense offered none, the jury was dismissed until to-morrow; two hours were then taken to prepare, submit and argue instructions; the court's decisions were favorable to the Commonwealth, and the day's doings were over.

Judge Witt put the only copies of the instructions extant in his inside pocket and went home; the lawyers left for their respective offices or homes; Burton was escorted to the jail, the newspaper men took up other assignments, and the court floor of the City Hall had become another deserted village.

The Two Burtons.
A. Chadwick Burton spent the better part of Friday and all of Friday night in the Second Police Station, and he was made as comfortable as possible, but he spent a restless night. He arose early yesterday morning, ate a small breakfast, and at 8:30 was seen in the sergeant's office, quietly shaving. He read the morning paper, but to none of the men about the station did he make comments on the stirring news of the day.

When he was escorted to the Hastings court-room and had to take a seat by his counsel, Burton looked a little jaded, as would any man who had not slept well the night before, but otherwise he was chipper enough. In all respects he seems to be holding a stiff upper lip. After the adjournment of court Burton held a short conference with the city sergeant's office with his legal advisers, including Mr. Charles Linde, of Philadelphia, and then he was taken to the jail. He occupies a pleasant cell on the third floor, and his meals are sent in from a restaurant.

Mrs. Burton spent a small part of the morning in Mayor Markham's office. She was there when the Hastings Court met. Soon afterwards she returned to Murphy's and spent the remainder of the day, except the short while she consumed in a stroll, accompanied by Sergeant Gibson. She will remain in the city until the case on is ended, and longer, if necessary. That Mrs. Burton would like to get on the witness stand and give testimony against her husband, no one who talks with her can doubt.

The lawyers on both sides claim that they see success in the air. Mr. Folkes looks for a verdict of guilty and severe punishment when the gentlemen of the defense complacently say: "Our case is won already."

Mayor McCarthy thinks the Commonwealth has proved its case beyond a peradventure of a doubt.

No one is able to offer a suggestion as to what will become of the other war-rant and charges against Burton. Mayor McCarthy, in reply to an inquiry on the subject, said: "I don't know. If I had the say so in the matter I would have every one of them tried and pushed to the bitter end."

Session in Detail.
The Hastings Court was opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and when the stipulation given, the courtroom was not more than half filled with spectators, but before 11 o'clock, the hour at which this court usually meets, the room was densely packed and more people were coming.

O. J. Sands was the first witness recalled. He said the woman got his 13 about the 12th of December. It may have been as late as the 14th.

Rev. H. L. Weston was recalled. Did not authorize A. C. Burton or Mrs. Burton or the two women with them to solicit funds for Baptist Church or for the poor of the church—positively did not.

Mr. Wise took the witness in hand for cross-examination and elicited the following facts: The witness gave Burton the names of Mrs. Bass and other officers an members of the Dorcas Society to be used on the circular announcing the concert. Witness did not recollect saying in the Police Court that if Burton had
